The council met to review the bids that came in for the street project. Thaniel Monaco from BG Consultants came to explain the process. There was disappointment in the bids and what the project was going to cost. Thaniel informed the council they did not have to take action on the bids at this meeting. He suggested they get together after they had some time to look everything over and decide at a later date what they wanted to do.

The council quickly reviewed the CIP plan.

It was agreed that they would like to have a work study meeting before the next council meeting. The work study will be on the 11th of February at 5:30 at City Hall.
